

Carole Elaine Robinson

December 1, 1944 - August 3, 2022

Carole Elaine Simons Yapp Robinson, aged 77, the only child of Clarice Louise Anglin, transitioned on August 3, 2022. Born on Dec. 1, 1944 in Jamaica, she attended St. Georges Elementary, and Wolmers High Schools in Kingston. Becoming a Registered Nurse after earning a degree from the Bronx Community College of the City University of New York, she left New York City for Houston, Texas finally settling into retirement in Bradenton 10 years ago. She lived a life being a role model for principled standards, embracing hard work and education. Simultaneously this was carried out always with her having impeccable taste accompanied by elegant and perpetual aesthetic styles in fashion and design.

Among those most significantly impacted by her departure are David Allen Robinson her husband of 39 years; son, Andre Ricardo Powe; nephew Sean Rose with wife Althea and sons Cameron and Emerson. Dearest friends and family: Alice Jacobs and family including children and grandchildren, and Alice's niece Sandra Silvera; Grace and Trevor Rhoden and family; Marjorie and Leaford Silvera and family. Sisters Erna Legister and Leonie Fearon and family, and longtime high school friend and Sarasota resident Blondell Anderson. She touched the lives of Breeda Edwards and a host of other residents and staff in the Bradenton Westminster community where she resided. Carole was predeceased by son Colin Delano Yapp in addition to her mother and father George Simons.
