Chad Wesley Webb

July 31, 1984 – May 12th, 2023

Chad Wesley Webb went to be with his Lord and Savior on May 12, 2023, leaving behind his father, Carl, his mother, Rose, his sister Raegan Neal, his brother-in-law Bill Neal, and his nephew William Neal Jr.

As a child Chad was very active in gymnastics, baseball, soccer, and as he grew older he excelled in weightlifting, competing in four Junior Olympic National championships. As a sophomore in high school he won the Ironman award for squatting 450 pounds.

His favorite thing was being in the mountains with family and friends, hiking, fishing, swimming, skiing, campfires, and making smores with his nephew, and playing practical jokes on his aunts.

Chad worked in the family construction business but found his..

passion/calling was working with men with addictions being an addict himself.

He knew the struggles and could relate on a personal level, knowing the only way to a clean and sober life was through his heavenly Father. His walk took him to many different settings, many different places, yet he rose to meet God's challenges to help others. He entered Servant Leadership Training and received his certificate of completion with the respect of the men he was teaching.

He has many, many, lives that he has touched and helped and so many that have touched and helped him in his journey. We are thankful that he is resting in the arms of God. We will miss you and love you forever and always!

A celebration of Chad's Life will be held Saturday, May 20, 2023 at 11:00 am

“ 5 years later, the loss and shock of your passing still weighs heavy on my heart and in many ways difficult to process. Despite your demons and the trials you faced here on earth no one can discredit the man you were and the impact you had on so many people. The ones who truly knew you, knew your heart. Your love for people but most of all your unwavering love for God. Your ability to make any situation fun, adventurous, and full of laughter. Your grace, strength, and motivation to push others to be better even when you felt your self undeserving of the same at times. We knew the unique qualities you possessed as a son, a brother, a grandson, a uncle, a nephew, a cousin, a friend, a partner, a mentor, a Christian- all measured much greater than any set back you faced throughout this life. I know first hand the trouble Chad could raise and the challenges or consequences that came along with it. I also know all the joy, smiles, and memories he blessed me with in the 5 years we were together. I was lucky enough to be able to make amends with Chad a couple years ago, it was our last conversation, it is one I will now forever be grateful for.

Even with our time together coming to an end half a decade ago and even the way it ended, the sorrow of losing you this time feels much greater. Possibly because I know your family, friends and those who never had the opportunity to know you in all the ways so many of us did, will now face this world without you. As much as I know this to be true, I also have peace and comfort knowing that you are in the arms of our heavenly father. That even though it has devastated and changed so many lives here, your life has only just begun. I believe you will continue to be a light in this world from the good you did achieve here and now from heaven.

Chad's gift to speak and teach the word of God was in it self one of my favorite things about him. His ability to pray and pray for others. I know as a Christian he did the work he was called to do. I also know his faithfulness, courage, failures, and love are proof of all the ways a follower of Christ should be. It is his testimony and his legacy that will live on in all of us. A reminder that we can be imperfect, fail, sin, struggle and still experience the love and forgiveness as he did through Christ. Personally I don't think Chad could have given any better gift to all of us. May God keep you Chad and may your memory carry on in all of us.

I pray for peace and comfort for your family. Carl, Rose, Rae I love you all and I pray you can find your smiles through the tears when you think of him, I pray you can rest and heal in knowing Chad is at peace. Probably kicking the doors of heaven down, his hands waving peace signs and his goofy smile on his face (maybe even sticking his tongue out 🙄♀️). You couldn't have done a better job of loving him, guiding him, and providing him a faith and relationship with God that ultimately saved him
